Idea Exchange.....9:15 am

9:15 am to 10:15 am, Clubhouse Library

The Infill Challenge - Shane Styles (Inhabit Residential) and James Moore, Long Range Policy Planning Manager (City of Kelowna)

James Moore will provide an overview of the Infill Challenge, an innovative competition (aka “challenge”) hosted by the City for the development of new designs for sensitive infill housing in select parts of Kelowna’s Urban Core Area. Winning projects are intended to act as catalysts, inspiring greater achievement in the design of infill housing, strengthening community and developer support along the way. Shane Styles will highlight key features of the winning design and the project rationale. For more information go to; <http://www.kelowna.ca/CM/Page4804.aspx>

10:30 am to 11:30 am, Clubhouse Library

Soil Mate – Matt Gomez, Founder

Matt will join us to talk about Soil Mate, an organization looking to push forward the local food and drink message. Soil Mate launched in May 2014 with Farms and Farmers’ Markets. It took just six months for Soil Mate to have listings in every state in the US and every province in Canada. With thousands of listings, and thousands of consumers using the site each week to find local food and drink producers. Soil Mate is growing rapidly. Early in 2015 Soil Mate expanded its system to allow the listing and connection of locally sourcing stores and restaurants, associations, wineries, breweries, and other drink categories. With the addition of these options, Soil Mate covers the whole local food and drink economy, from planting to plating and pouring. <https://www.soilmate.com/>

Networking Luncheon, Clubhouse Upper Lounge.....11:30 am
